AMY & RICK HENDEL

Owners, Hendel Homes

Hendel Homes fosters meaningful partnerships among clients, architects, designers, and tradespeople. Rick and Amy Hendel have an innate ability to implement a personal, design-style approach. They take time to understand each client's style and desires, as well as what is necessary to build notable projects. They do not focus merely on the final outcome of a building project, but on every detail along the way.

"A service mindset means we listen to more than just our clients' words," Rick said. "It is the essence of our entire consultative and collaborative style. We approach each task with humility, honoring the wisdom and solutions of our collaborators. Our clients have confidence and trust in us because they see we always have their best interests in mind. As builders with decades of experience, we deliver architecturally intricate homes with uncompromising quality. Through careful project planning and materials selection, we construct sound structures. Our work is more than project management—we infuse everything we do with a high level of devotion, care, and respect for our clients.

To recognize their engagement with their clients, work with partners, and commitment to customer satisfaction, Amy, Rick, and the Hendel Homes team were awarded Builder of the Year 2022 in October at Housing First Minnesota's Building Industry Gala.
